STOWAWAY ELUDES SEARCH OF POLICE

Reward Offered for Capture of the West Indian Sailor.

CAPTAIN IN DILEMM

Is in Danger of Having $1,000 Fine Imposed by Immigration Authorities.

Joseph Williams, the West Indian stowaway, is still at large, in spite of the efforts of the police of Washington. Yesterday morning. Williams was seen walking down F street southwest, coming from the direction of the steamboat wharves. Afterward he was seen entering a small restaurant in the same sectino, but the police of the Fourth prefurther clues to his whereabouts.

Man Dodges Deportation.

The escape of Williams, who, on last Monday was placed in the custody of Captain Mohr, of the schooner Horatic Baker, for deportation to Trinidad upon the vessel's return trip, has placed the commander of the vessel in a dilemma and serious trouble will be the outcome Williams is not captured. The penalty imposed for bringing a stowaway to this country is $1,000. In the presen this country is $1,000. In the present case, Captain Mohr was unaware of the presence of Williams on his boat until after it was one cay out at sea. Upon his arrival here he reported the case to the immigration officials, and after hearing the facts, they decided that the commander was not to be held responsible, and that he would be relieved of all blame if Williams were deported on the same vessel which brought him here.

Captain Offers Reward.

Captain Mohr appeared yesterday at Police Headquarters and told his predicament to Inspector Robert B. Board-

Mohr that the Washington police would house while unearthing statistics as to mobile at thirty miles an hour. Repre-

FOUR GIRLS IN XIMONOS ARE REQUESTED TO LEAVE

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16.-An anti-pajama-kimono crusade has been brought to successful issue by the board of managers of the Young Woman's Chris-

Four young women boarders at the association house left at the request of the managers, and now there are stories of hallway frolies, in which fleeting forms, clad in pajamas, figure.

Several young women persistently violated a rule by coming to Sunday dinners and daily suppers in kimonos despite the fact that guests were presdespite the fact that guests were present and transient boarders are a considerable feature of the association life. They were permitted to come to breakfast in dresing sacques.

A spirit of romance guided two young women to Fort Thomas, where they spoke to soldiers, and on the way to Cincinnati on a car embraced and kissed each other with such joyous abandon that passengers gazed in wonder.

CHAMBERMAID'S DISCHARGE ACHIEVED BY A STRIKE

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 16,-While the dining room at the McFarland Hotel was crowded with guests at the dinner hour all the waitresses went on a strike, and for more than an hour

Finding that the girls would not listen to anything short of the discharge of a chambermaid, to whom they objected, the proprietor complied, and they returned to work.
